KIS style guide

Kodaikanal International School (KIS) needs corporate branding to ensure consistency and authenticity in its marketing and communication efforts. It is all about projecting the unique KIS personality - who we are, what we stand for, our vision, mission and values, etc. It is essential to fix the brand name "KIS" or "kis.in" or our tagline (A school the world needs) into the minds of current and future members of the KIS community. Branding includes the KIS logo, color schemes, typography, imaging, content style, domain name, tag line, etc. It is extremely important that we portray an image of KIS in a harmonious way.

Logo

The KIS logo was selected in a student competition in 1955. David Wiebe's (Class of 1956) design was selected as the winning entry. His design has since been incorporated repeatedly in the symbolic representation of the school containing the iconic Perumal malai (meaning mountain in Tamil), a eucalyptus tree and portions of Kodai Lake, a simplistic visualization of the view from Upper Lake View.

When using the logo, do not stretch, alter the color/text, place anything on top or behind the logo. Maintain a sufficient border space around the logo in relation to its usage, with a minimum space of x/6, where x is the width and height of the logo. For e.g. if the width of the logo is 12 feet, maintain a border space at a minimum of 2 feet.

If required, based on the background color where the logo is intended to be placed, use the monochromatic logo.

Color Scheme

The KIS color scheme contains three primary colors representing our school colors, along with a Complementary and Accented color palette, which includes a shade of the Kurinji purple. These colors can be used for charts, graphs and other KIS-branded collateral that requires extensive design.
