Kumaraguru

Kumaraguru College of Liberal Arts & Science (KCLAS) was instituted in 2018 and is rooted in the philosophy of Liberal Arts education offering broad-based education for holistic development with an in-depth understanding of the chosen discipline. Today, KCLAS offers 11 UG and 2 PG programs with 1400 students. KCLAS is a part of Kumaraguru Institutions which was founded by Padma Bhushan Dr N Mahalingam in the year 1984, is today one among the premier institutions in South India. The Institution was founded with a vision to contribute to the development of India through education.

The need of Visual Identity

Kumaraguru Institutions needs to present a consistent identity to ensure instant recognition of our brand among a wide variety of audiences.Our visual identity is the graphic expression of who we are and what we represent. It has a major role to play in promoting a consistent and positive image of the Institutions.

The concerted application of our unique visual identity has even greater significance in the modern world where communication systems have evolved to provide instant global messaging. Individuals now receive an extraordinary number of messages every day through a wide variety of media. It is therefore in our shared interest to ensure that the messages from Kumaraguru Institutions achieve the greatest prominence, recognition and relevance by using all the communication skills at our disposal. By applying these visual identity guidelines, we can all make our communications clear, consistent and professional. Together, we will be able to convey and promote the academic excellence and cultural significance of Kumaraguru Institutions. These guidelines provide the tools to create a necessary visual uniformity among the rich diversity that is contained within the Kumaraguru Institutions.

Usage Of Guidelines.

The Identity

At the heart of our visual identity is the KCLAS logo.It should appear on everything we produce, from letterheads to leaflets and from online banners to bookmarks.

The primary logo is to be considered first priority. As it will bring in consistency in usage.

The secondary Emblem should be used in cases only where the primary logo does not fit in. This can happen due to space constraint and only for internal purpose.

Colour & Monotone

Wherever possible, the KCLAS logo must appear in the colour: KCLAS blue.

However, there are circumstances where the accurate reproduction of the logo in KCLAS blue is not possible. These include print media where only black ink is available, such as press advertisements, or black and white laser printing.

Exclusion Zone

The exclusion zone should be a minimum of 10mm.

Similarly, the minimum distance from the cut or folded edge of any brochure or document to which the logo is applied should also allow a minimum gap of 10mm

There may well be instances where the logo needs to be positioned further than this minimum distance from format edges to ensure well-balanced design.

Clubbing Logos

Ideally, the KCLAS logo should appear to the Left of the partner logo.

Unacceptable Usage

A few rules are necessary for maintaining the intergriy of the brand. Do not Compromise the overall look of the logo by rotating, Skewing, or distorting in any way - that includes adding unecessary and unattractive text decorations like drop shadows and outlines. Here are a few examples of some ways as how the logo should not be used.

a. The logo should not be rotated.

b. Do not scale the logo disproportionately.

c. The logo should not have any addons to it.

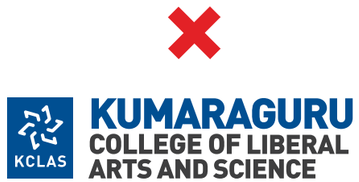

d. The size of the logo and the typo should not be altered.

e. The postioning of the identity should not be changed. Only the primary and secondary logo positioning should be maintained.

f. The brand colours must be followed.

g. No extra element should be added on to the logo

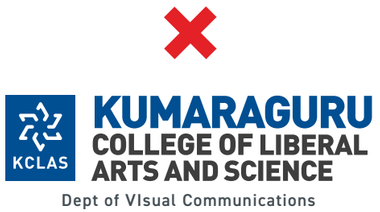

h. Do not place the logo on gradients

Photography

Photographs have a vital role to play in many of the publications we produce. A photo can get a message across quickly and effectively, so it is important that it says what you need it to do. Your choice of image in terms of its content, style and mood depends on the impression you are trying to achieve and the message you wish to convey.

Thank You.

Your Feedback

We hope these guidelines demonstrate how the visual identity elements can work together, in fresh and interesting ways, to create materials that reflect the Institution’s brand.

Your feedback on how useful these guidelines have been would be most welcome.
